'Hill Country rocks'

"Hill Country ROCKS" exhibit, TBA early February, soft opening, 4:30-6 p.m.

ROCKS—it's all about the geology of our part of the Texas Hill Country

"Hill Country ROCKS" is all about the geology of our surrounds

Recently, Ted Schulenberg assembled a geological exhibit at Kerr Arts & Cultural Center. Ted also offered his resources and material to use for an RNC exhibit. We brought on board one of our resident geologists—Susan Longacre, Ph.D., retired sedimentary rock specialist. She joins with Ted, Mary Muse, Judy Ferguson, and Susan Sander on what-is-what in the world of Texas Hill Country rocks. Theirs is resulting in a topnotch exhibit. It is only fitting that this geological exhibit be dedicated to the memory of a very special rock hound and geophysicist, a life and charter member of Riverside Nature Center whose support never wavered throughout our 25+ years. This one is for you, WILLIAM E. 'BILL' LAING.
