Capturing Conservation: The Land, Water and Spirit of the Texas Hill Country

The Texas Hill Country is a unique region of pristine springs, sprawling landscapes, diverse wildlife, star-filled skies, historic towns and hidden oases. With a rapidly growing population and increasing development coming into the region, many of these special qualities are at risk of being lost forever. For the 11th annual photography contest, HCA asks photographers to take out their cameras and capture what they would like to conserve.

We are looking for photography that captures the Land, Water and Spirit of the Texas Hill Country. We each have our own favorite piece of this region. Through the photo contest, we're asking photographers to share images of the Hill Country they would want to capture and protect forever. This might include a favorite swimming hole, scenic vista, bend in the river, historic dance hall, starry sky, stretch of roadway, working ranch, rugged landscape, or delicate flowers and roaming wildlife native and unique to this region.

The Photo Contest is open from March 1 through May 31, 2017. Photographers of all ages and skill levels, from amateurs to professionals, are invited to participate.

Judging

Images will be judged on originality, technical excellence, composition and ability to capture the unique flavor of the Hill Country. Decisions made by the judges will be final. The photographs should accurately reflect the subject matter and the scene as it actually appeared.

Photos that have been digitally altered beyond standards will be disqualified.

Acceptable are adjustments to color, contrast, brightness and sharpening; removal of dust and scratches; cropping; and use of HDR (high dynamic range), where multiple exposures of the same scene are combined for a greater tonal range.

Not acceptable are photo composites (combination of two or more photos, not of the same scene); or the use of artistic digital filters and effects which do not show the scene in its natural way.
